

TW publisher Randy Master introduces special guest Nick Bollettieri.

Mix America's favorite tennis magazine and New York's hottest new tennis club and you have a party to remember ...

'A great Open demands a great party—and it was great!'

Left: Stephanie Jessop-Borges, TW's Manager of Advertising & Sponsorship Sales, with Lauren Kinelski (left), PR Manager of Evian, the party's sponsor

Newly turned pro Asia Muhammad with her dad, Ron Holmes, a former USC basketball star, and trainer Tim Blenkiron

Nick Bollettieri celebrates his 10th "student" to earn a number one ranking.

Brittany Lockerbie, TW Circulation Manager

TW Celebrates the US Open

TENNIS WEEK REVIVED A TRADITION with its party to celebrate the US Open, hosted with USTA Eastern. Held on the rooftop of the new CityView Racquet Club, with a backdrop of the sun setting over the Manhattan skyline, it brought together a guest list of the sport's movers and shakers from across the country.

Photo at left: Tom Gullikson with author Scoop Malinowski (center) and Mark Winters of USTA Southern California section

'It's great to have the Tennis Week party back on the Open calendar.'

D.A. Abrams (right), the executive director of the USTA Eastern section, with TW editor Steve LeGrice

Tennisweek.com editor Richard Pagliaro and Editor-at-Large Richard Evans

Dale Caldwell (right), president of the USTA Eastern section, chats with USTA Midwest Executive Director Mark Saunders and Lee Rosenbaum (center), IMG Vice President of Publishing.

Above: Tennisweek.com anchor Carrie Milbank with IMG Media producers Ross Dyer and Andrew Lee